

"Mozync's Launch on the Android"

March 2010

Android Ready to Launch!

As some of you may know Creospan has a mobile barcode application called "Mozync" that has been in development. Our developers have been working hard to release our first demo application on all mobile platforms. Mozync will be fully functional on the Android platform in a few weeks.

Our invite to NIU's 2010 Internship Fair

Creospan was cordially invited to attend NIU's Internship Fair by the Associate Director of Campus and Employer Relations, Mary Myers and Diane Hart, to network with some brilliant minded students and promote our Red, White & Blue (RWB) internship program. Creospan was extremely happy with the response by both the students and the university. Our booth received numerous applicants that were highly motivated and determined to speak with a Creospan representative. We would like to send our thanks to Diane and Mary for their support and their invitation to this event. Creospan will continue to grow our relationship with the university and look out for any future opportunities for their students.
